Virtual

The 7th National Pedagogical Day in Vocational Training (JPNFP), a major event, will take place on November 10, 2023, virtually. This event will bring teachers in Vocational Training, andragogical consultants and administrators who have Vocational Training at heart and want to promote it, together, in a common forum.

The day is organized by the “Conseil pédagogique interdisciplinaire du Québec” (CPIQ) in collaboration with the “Association Québécoise de l’alternance études-travail” (AQAET), the “Association québécoise des professeurs en soins esthétiques” (AQPSE), the “Association québécoise des cadres scolaires” (AQCS), the “Centre de recherche appliquée en instrumentation de l’enseignement” (CRAIE), the Eastern Townships school board, the “centre de service scolaire des Mille-Îles and the “centre de service scolaire de la Capitale”. In addition, a member from the Quebec Advisory Council on Vocational Training (QACVE), a PROCÉDE sub committee, represents the English sector.

The theme for this 7th edition is : “The teacher at the heart of pedagogical innovation – the student at the heart of the action” (L’enseignant.e au cœur de l’innovation pédagogique – L’élève au cœur de l’action) refers to the evolution of teaching practices, as well as strategies and approaches that put the student at the centre of learning.

Innovation is necessary to find new conditions that facilitate learning. This conference will highlight the interest in continuous learning and calls on creativity, new ideas, and reflection and questions on our current practices for renewal. In summary, innovation is necessary to meet the learning challenges.

The organizing committee invites you to share your experiences and reflections on those important topics or any other topics of general interest for Vocational Training.

Looking forward to reading your submissions.
